SwishDM

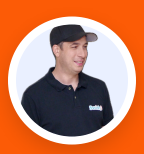

Getting cited by AI is the easy part.

CITED ✓

Have you read what it says?

SWIPE →

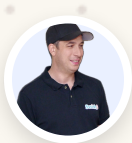

Jonathan Kiekbusch
Founder, SwishDM

Someone asked me a question on camera at Shenzhen SEO.

What's one of the biggest mistakes brands make with AI visibility? It's also what my BrightonSEO talk was about.

Jonathan Kiekbusch
Founder, SwishDM

SWIPE →

“A lot of brands are hyper focused on the amount of times they're being cited, but very few of them are actually checking what AI says when they're showing up.”

My answer, Shenzhen SEO

Jonathan Kiekbusch
Founder, SwishDM

In Shenzhen I put what AI says about one brand up on a slide.

The brand was already mentioned, and it was framed badly.

Jonathan Kiekbusch
Founder, SwishDM

SWIPE →

It's worst on versus terms.

Your brand against another brand, or your product against theirs. A lot of the time AI is citing you on outdated resources and saying things about you that are no longer true, and that's what ends up costing you deals.

Jonathan Kiekbusch
Founder, SwishDM

SWIPE →

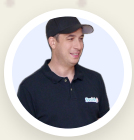

In my BrightonSEO talk I said being described as the cheap alternative can be worse than being left out.

I still think that.

LEFT OUT

THE CHEAP ALTERNATIVE

Jonathan Kiekbusch
Founder, SwishDM

The first thing we do for a brand is research the words AI uses to describe it.

Then we put out enough content on the brand's own site and on trusted third parties to reinforce the accurate version.

RUN IT OFTEN

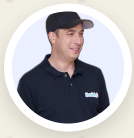

READ WHAT IT KEEPS SAYING

WRITE THE FACT THAT CLOSES THE GAP

MY SLIDE, BEYOND THE FUNNEL

SWIPE →

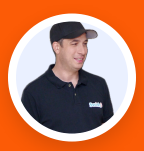

Jonathan Kiekbusch
Founder, SwishDM

Search your brand against your closest competitor and read what comes back.

I'm happy to help.

Jonathan Kiekbusch
Founder, SwishDM