A lot of brands check whether AI mentions them.

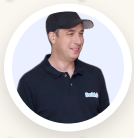

Fewer read what it says.

Where you can end up in the answer.

Absent

You're not in the answer at all.

Mis-framed

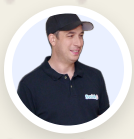

You're there, described wrongly.

Out-ranked

You're there, second, and it gives a reason.

Judged on someone else's axis

The comparison is drawn on terms you didn't set.

Check it on versus searches.

Your brand against another brand, or your product against their's. That's where outdated answers cost you deals.

Work out which one you have first.

Then put enough content on your own site and on trusted third-party sites to reinforce the language you want.

DIAGNOSE FIRST

If your name comes back, keep reading.

Three of the four happen while you're already in the answer.

1. Absent
2. Mis-framed
3. Out-ranked
4. Judged on someone else's axis
