Buyers ask AI to compare you with your competitor.

Check those answers each week. Update your pages and product data when a fact is wrong.

Monday, compare your brand in ChatGPT and Google AI Mode.

Type it the way a buyer would, your brand against your main competitor, and screenshot both answers.

Google says AI Mode helps with complex comparisons.

Tuesday, open any sources linked in the answers.

In ChatGPT, check Sources when available. AI Mode shows supporting links. See whether those pages support what the answer says about you.

Thursday, update the product data you share.

Google says to keep your Merchant Center information up to date. On Shopify, your catalogue already reaches ChatGPT through Shopify Catalog.

Friday, report remaining errors. Ask again next week.

ChatGPT product listings have a menu for reporting incorrect information. OpenAI says updated prices and shipping terms can take time to show.
